VETERINARY CARDIOLOGY

CPR Victoria now offers a specialist mobile, in-practice cardiorespiratory service for all of Melbourne and Victoria*

(*see www.cprvictoria.com.au for regional areas visited).

CPR Victoria is now independently owned and operated by Victoria's ONLY specialist veterinary cardiologist, Richard Woolley.

This service aims to work in conjunction with referring veterinarians to offer a friendly and convenient mobile specialist cardiorespiratory service to veterinary practices. Richard can visit your practice and provide all the necessary diagnostic equipment to deliver the highest standard of care to your patients.

Advantages to the referring veterinarians and clients:

- Clients, in most cases, can be seen at their own practice
- Immediate case feedback to the referring veterinarian
- Participation of the referring vet is actively encouraged
- Referring veterinarians maintain their income as they will prescribe the initial and ongoing medications. Clinics are also encouraged to incorporate into the fees to the client the cost of usage of their space, and staff when required.

Referral to a specialist centre can be organised if surgical intervention or further advanced diagnostics, such as CT, are required. The main location for advanced procedures will now be Southpaws Specialty Surgery for Animals, Moorabbin, unless the case is already at a location with suitable equipment.

Richard is now 100% mobile and no longer 'based' at PESC. If you would like to use the services offered by CPR Victoria please contact Richard directly on 0410 363 620 or email vetcardiology@gmail.com.
